ABOUT THIS YEAR'S PRODUCTION.....

The Reach of Song begins and ends in the present-day Appalachian mountains. Most of the people in the drama are not professional actors, and the stories they tell are from their own lives.

ACT ONE: Is the way things were

ACT TWO: Is the way they became

THE CHARACTER OF BYRON HERBERT REECE is this year represented by the memories of those who knew him best. The taped voices are the following:

Leon Colwell, friend of the family from Blairsville.

Dora Spiva, Byron Herbert Reece's math teacher.

Dale Elliot, boyhood friend of Byron Herbert Reece.

Kate Lane, Byron Herbert Reece's sister, currently living near Richmond, Virginia.

Jean Rispoli, Byron Herbert Reece's sister, now deceased.

Byron Herbert Reece, Taped Interview, WSB (Atlanta)

LET US PLACE YOUR NAME ON THE PATRON DISPLAY IN THE LOBBY—TONIGHT!

The Reach of Song thanks its corporate sponsor, AT&T, as well as all of the fine individual and business patrons who have contributed to make this 1995 season possible.

You, too, can keep the spirit of the mountains alive! Please, let us add your name to the list of "Friends of the Drama."

For a $25 donation, you can leave your name with us and take home two very special pieces of the mountains:

"The Reach of Song: Music and Memories," a cassette tape that circles back to the stories of those who created the drama: area residents; cast members; and friends and relatives of Byron Herbert Reece.

"The Reach of Song Original Script" in book form, and signed by the playwright, Tom DeTitta.

Please fill out the following, and leave it and a check or credit card number with any Reach of Song usher.
